Supplemental Security Income (SSI) Application
What is this and why do I need it?

SSI is an income support program that provides monthly payments to persons who have disabilities and have limited income and resources. Applying for SSI is the first step in accessing adult developmental disability services.

Social Security calls the individual who is applying for SSI the “claimant.” Most eligible for Medicaid. An individual who is applying for people who receive SSI are also individual must be approved

Additional Information can be found on our website: https://healthandwelfare.idaho.gov/services-programs/medicaid-health/services-adults-developmental-disabilities/
for SSI as an adult in order to access Adult Developmental Disabilities Services through Medicaid in the State of Idaho.

Why do I need it?

Adult Developmental Disability Services do not pay for room and board, but SSI can provide financial support to help pay basic living expenses, including room and board.

At some point children’s Medicaid expires and qualifying for SSI allows the claimant to apply for and receive Medicaid as an adult. This Medicaid pays for healthcare expenses such as doctor appointments, therapy and prescription drugs.

Who is eligible to receive SSI?

In general, an individual is likely to be eligible for SSI by meeting both disability and financial criteria.

Disability Criteria: This refers to a person with a physical, mental, or developmental disability. You will need to gather documentation of the disability including IEP eligibility reports, psychological evaluations and/or medical/specialist evaluations depending on the diagnosis. The application and related forms will ask for you to:

- Describe the claimant’s disability and how it affects daily living
- List who is providing services and supports
- Provide other information about the claimant’s disability

Financial Criteria: Once you turn 18, you are your own “household.” This means that individuals with disabilities who apply as an adult do not have the income of their parents or guardians considered in determination. The claimant will be expected to pay rent and will not have to put the family’s income on any applications. If the parent or guardian chooses not to charge the claimant rent, then he or she will not be eligible for the full amount of SSI every month because he or she is not responsible for paying any bills.

How does a person apply for SSI?

Social Security offices in different regions have different policies. It is recommended that you or your parent/guardian call your local Social Security office and ask about their current application policy.

Medicaid Application
What is this and why do I need it?

Medicaid provides medical coverage for eligible Idahoans. Benefits offered through Medicaid will pay for medical services through providers, similar to health insurance companies.

Medicaid Application

It is extremely important for participants to apply or reapply for Medicaid as an adult. If a participant doesn’t qualify for Medicaid, they will not be able to access adult DD services.

To make the process move more smoothly, send or bring proof of identity, income, household expenses and resources to the local Self-Reliance office. It is important to mention to the Self-Reliance worker that the applicant has a developmental disability.

Katie Beckett

Katie Beckett Medicaid, also known as Home Care for Certain Disabled Children, is a Medicaid program that enables children with special healthcare needs or long-term disabilities to be cared for at home instead of in an institution and be eligible for Medicaid based on the child’s income and assets without considering the resources of the parents/guardians. The cost of care at home compared to the cost in an institutional setting is also used in determining eligibility.

This documentation will need to include:

- Eligibility Application*
- Receipt of Privacy Practices*
  *The documents can be obtained by contacting Regional Medicaid Services or at: https://healthandwelfare.idaho.gov/services-programs/medicaid-health/apply-adult-developmental-disabilities-programs

- Documentation confirming that your Developmental Disability was identified before the age of 22. Examples of this documentation could include:
  - School Records

- If you have Cerebral Palsy, Epilepsy, or Traumatic Brain Injury provide information from your doctor about your diagnosis
- If you have an Intellectual Disability (formerly Mental Retardation), provide the results of an IQ test using the Wechsler Adult Intelligence Scale (WAIS-IV). If this test was done more than 3 years ago, you will need to have a new test

Eligibility & Budget
How do I find out if I'm eligible?

After you have applied for Adult Developmental Disability Services and all of your documents have been received by Regional Medicaid Services, your application will be sent to the Independent Assessment Provider (IAP) for review. The IAP will contact you or your parent/guardian to schedule an interview to find out if you are eligible for services. This appointment can be scheduled in your home or in the community setting of your choice. It is very important that you attend your scheduled interview. You will also need to have a guardian, parent, friend or someone who knows you very well with you during the interview.

What will happen at the interview?

- At the interview the IAP will ask you and the person with you questions that will help them gather information about you and your needs.
- The IAP will complete a functional assessment with the person with you. The results of this assessment will help determine if you are eligible and what level of care you will need.
- The IAP will request signatures on Release of Information forms in order to gather more information about you and your disability.
- The IAP will ask you questions about your needs, which helps them write a Needs Inventory. This allows the IAP to calculate your annual budget for adult DD services.

What will happen after the interview?

- After the interview, the IAP will review all of the information they have and will decide if you are eligible for adult DD services. You will get a notice in the mail to let you know the results.
- If you are found eligible your notice will include the amount of your annual budget and a timeline to submit your plan of service.
Plan Developer Selection

Who will help me?

If you are found eligible for Developmental Disability Services, you will need to choose a person or an agency to help you explore services and develop a plan of service. You can find an updated list of providers in your region at:

☞ For participants who choose Traditional Services: You will choose an agency to provide you with Plan Development and Targeted Service Coordination. You will be able to work with your Plan Developer/Service Coordinator to explore your options and create an Individual Support Plan to access services and supports that meet your needs.

☞ For participants who choose Self-Direction: You will choose a Support Broker to help you decide what you want your supports to look like and who you want to hire to help you. The Support Broker will work with you to develop a Support and Spending Plan. A current list of Support Brokers can be found on the Department’s website.

You can find out more information about the differences between Traditional Services and Self-Direction in the following section.

State Plan Option

You will want to speak with your Targeted Service Coordinator (TSC) to see if there are additional services available to you. Services available under the state plan option include:

- Targeted Service Coordination (TSC): A person who works for an agency that helps you coordinate and maintain your services and supports.

- Developmental Therapy: Skill-building services are offered by an agency that will help you work on goals to increase your independence. This service can be provided one-on-one or in a group.

- Community Crisis Supports: Extra help for people with disabilities that are having a crisis. These supports are here to keep you healthy and safe.

Developmental Disability Waiver Services

Individuals who have more intense needs and meet a higher level of care might also qualify for the DD waiver. One option is called Traditional Services and the other is called Self Direction.

Traditional Services

With Traditional Services, you select a Targeted Service Coordinator who can help you choose the most appropriate services and supports to meet your needs. The following services are examples of what could be in your plan:

- Residential Habilitation: Also referred to as “Res Hab,” includes both Certified Family Homes and Supported Living Services. Res Hab helps you to live in your own home, with your family, or in a Certified Family Home with more independence.

Certified Family Home: An Individual can live with someone whose home has been certified by the Department of Health and Welfare to provide supports and assist you with your daily living needs. This can be the home of a relative or someone who isn’t related. Some services and supports will be provided in the home and some services and supports will be provided in the community. These supports are designed to keep you healthy and safe and increase your independence.

Supported Living Services: You can live in your family’s home, in a home by yourself or in a home with roommates and receive up to 24-hour support from an agency. The agency will help you increase your independence by teaching you how to manage your daily living skills, assisting you in accessing your community, protecting your health and safety, and many other things depending on your needs.

Chore Services: An agency can be paid to do chores for you that could include window washing, moving furniture, shoveling snow or other chores that you may not be able to do on your own.

Respite Care: If you live with someone that doesn’t get paid to care for you, Medicaid will pay for someone else to care for you when your support is not able to be there. This service is only available for short time periods.

Supported Employment: You can get a job and go to work with the help of a job coach. The job coach will help you learn and keep your job.

Non-Medical Transportation: You can use part of your budget to pay for transportation to community services and activities.

Environmental Modifications: You can hire someone to make changes to your home that will allow you to live there with more independence.

Specialized Medical Equipment: Medicaid pays for some Durable Medical Equipment through your Medicaid card. When your items are related to your disability and your Medicaid card won’t cover them, you can purchase them using your DD budget.

- Adult Day Health: A supervised and structured day program for you to receive a variety of social, recreational and health activities.

Self-Direction

This is a Medicaid option for adults who are eligible for the DD Waiver. This option gives the participant choices, and the freedom to manage their own lives. Participants don’t have to choose supports alone. They will have as much or as little help as they need from a Support Broker, a Circle of Support, and a Fiscal Employer Agent (FEA). Participants will have an individualized budget, create a Support and Spending Plan, hire Community Support Workers, and buy goods and services. Participants who choose Self-Direction must agree to the following four (4) principles:

- Freedom to plan their own lives
- Control over their Medicaid dollars to buy services and supports
- Support to become involved in their communities
- Responsibility for their choices and decisions

If Self-Direction doesn’t work out, individuals can go back to receiving Traditional DD Waiver Services.

Plan Development
How do I write my plan?

Person-Centered Planning Team/Circle of Support: This is the group of people that will help you develop a plan of service. This group can include you, your plan developer and anyone else you think will be important in creating your plan.

Person-Centered Planning Meeting: This is a meeting that is set up to discuss the services and supports that you would like to access and come up with goals to make you more independent. The ideas and goals discussed in this meeting will be included in your Individual Support Plan.

Traditional Services
Once you have chosen a Plan Developer and explored the services and supports available, your Plan Developer will work with you to schedule the person-centered planning meeting. Once the Person-Centered planning meeting is complete, your Plan Developer will take all of the information talked about during that meeting and put it into a document called an Individual Support Plan (ISP) and send it to Regional Medicaid Services for approval. The approval process for an ISP takes 30 days. Once approved, you can work with your Service Coordinator to start accessing the services and supports you selected.

Self-Direction
If you choose Self-Direction, you will need to attend training with Regional Medicaid Services to learn how to self-direct your services and supports. After the training, you will hire a Support Broker to help you decide who you should include in the Person Centered Planning process.

After completing the Person-Centered Planning meeting, your Support Broker will take the information talked about and create a document called a Support and Spending Plan (SSP). This SSP will be sent to Regional Medicaid Services for approval. The approval process for an SSP takes 30 days. Once approved, you can begin hiring the people that you would like to provide the services and supports outlined in your Support and Spending Plan.
